PLANNED DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT REZONING

A Planned Development District (PD) allows a mix of compatible land uses that would not typically be allowed with traditional zoning districts. Any rezoning to a PD District, just as with a typical rezoning, must conform fully to the county comprehensive development plan. The rezoning to a PD district allows the creation of a customized zoning district with a unique set of zoning regulations. Any necessary separation between various uses is accomplished by designating various subareas within the development.

Within the county's unincorporated area, there are three steps to the rezoning process. These include 1) a public hearing before the Minnehaha County Planning Commission, 2) a hearing before the County Commission, and 3) publication of the approved rezoning in the official newspapers of the county. An application packet includes an application form (attached), the required application fee and an initial development plan which includes the following information:

- A. Project name and legal description.
- B. A preliminary subdivision plan including proposed subareas and boundaries.
- C. The proposed development scheme showing the following information:
 - 1) The proposed land uses, including the number and type of any buildings.
 - 2) The proposed density of the development, not to exceed the density in traditional districts.
 - 3) The proposed building setbacks, not less than those required for traditional zoning districts
 - 4) The proposed maximum height, not to exceed the height allowed in traditional districts.
 - 5) Proposed design features to show compatibility with the surrounding neighborhoods.
 - 6) Anticipated subarea development sequence.

The application fee for a planned development rezoning is $350 plus $50 for each subarea shown in the initial development plan. If a use is started without first obtaining the rezoning, the property owner may be allowed to apply for the required rezoning. In such cases, however, a penalty fee equal to the original application fee must be added to the regular application fee. That fee, like the application fee, is non-refundable.

The Planning Commission typically meets the fourth Monday of each month (except December and holidays). The application deadline for the meeting is 30 days before the meeting. The applicant must post a notification sign on the property at least one week before the meeting. State law also requires that the applicant notify abutting property owners of the date and time of the meeting by registered mail at least one week before the meeting. The Planning Department provides the notification sign, a sample notification letter, and a list of the names and addresses of the abutting landowners. The applicant must provide the Planning Department with proof of the mailing. At the meeting, the Planning Commission will take testimony on the request and then take action to recommend approval or denial of the application. The Planning Commission's decision serves as a recommendation to the Minnehaha County Commission.

The County Commission mission hearing on the item will be held on the third Tuesday of the following month. After taking testimony the County Commission will make a decision to either approve or deny the rezoning request.

Once approved, a notice of the ordinance amendment is published in the official county newspaper and becomes effective 20 days following the final publication.

If the Commissions approve the rezoning, they also approve the specific zoning regulations for the Planned Development District. Before the applicant can start the development, however, they must prepare a final plan for approval by the joint Planning Commissions.
